BOATS AND THE LAKES

BOATS AND THE LAKES

LADIES OF THE LAKES

James Clary

This book is a delightful and informative narrative of maritime history and you, the reader, are invited to join us on a pleasant excursion cruise, to participate in a great sea battle, to experience the terror of a ship disaster, and to come along for a ride aboard a giant freighter. Ladies Of The Lakes is a salute to those schooners, steamers, gunboats and freighters, those grand and glorious ships which make up our Great Lakes tradition and heritage.

The Great Lakes in the 21st Century

Dave Dempsey

"The Great Lakes area a global treasure that we take for granted at our own peril. In this book, Dave Dempsey contrasts the majesty of the Great Lakes and the affection shown them by individuals with the history of their neglect and mistreatment by governments and others. In doing so, he provides riveting human and natural history, testimony to the wonder of the Great Lakes, and a compelling call for a new approach to their protection in the coming century. - William G. DISASTER GREAT LAKES

Megan Long

Disaster Great Lakes chronicles fifty of the most terrible events to strike people on these vast inland seas and in surrounding communities. Erratic weather on the Great Lakes has brought down ships of the War of 1812 schooners to the legendary Edmund Fitzgerald. On shore, great fires devastated young cities like Chicago and Toronto and cut huge swaths through forests. Train wrecks, explosions and environmental disasters like the Love Canal have been painful catalysts of change. In all the stories, the many ways people respond in times of crisis reveal the human core in all its complexity.

NO TEARS IN HEAVEN

1926 Barnes Hecker Mine Disaster

Thomas G Friggins

The worst mine disaster in Michigan history. The nation was stunned by the news. On November 3, 1926 with more than fifty men working underground, the Barnes-Hecker Mine caved in. The iron mine, near Ishpeming in Michigan's central Upper Peninsula, employed fathers and their sons, brothers and their brother-in-law. No Tears In Heaven pays tribute to these men by offering a glimpse into their lives, their livelihood and the gripping events of that autumn day.

NORTHERN D'LIGHTS

Jerry Harju

"My second book, Northern D'Lights, is a collection of humorous short stories about the rigors of growing up in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan in the 1940's. To me, even now, the Upper Peninsula is a strange, wonderful and somewhat uncivilized place, but when I think back to prehistoric times, when I was a kid, it was even more so. What I've done in this book is create fictionalized versions of things that happened to me and characters I met during that time. I hope you enjoy them."

SEASONS OF THE NORTH

Photographs by Jeff Richter

The great northwoods is a terrain of placid lakes, dramatic skies, and tangled woods - a country whose splendors are often hidden, subtle, and seasonal. Richter's photographs reveal the audacious declarations of wild cherry blossoms in late spring, the brooding aftermath of a summer storm, and the austere decorations of snow and ice in winter. This collection of photographs is a testament to one man's patience, appreciation, and reverence - and his ability to convey the beauty of each season to those who share his appreciation.

ECHOES OF DETROIT

A 300 Year History

Irwin Cohen
This chronological history of Detroit tells the story of the great industrial city from its beginning as a French fur-trading outpost in 1701 to its new era of hope and renewal in 2001. Who was Woodward?
Who was John R.? Who was the "Real McCoy?"
Where is the statue of Detroit's meanest man?
Which skyscraper was named after a river in Maine? Where was the Lone Ranger born?

BOB-LO REVISITED

Photography by B. Rauhauser, History by M. Magid

The photography in this book of Bob-Lo Island and the excursion boats Ste. Claire and Columbia were made over a period of forty years. They might serve as a catalyst to remind Detroiters who made Bonb-Lo a frequent summer outing - and all those around the country who were frequent or one-time visitors - of all the wonderful times Bob-Lo provided; first as a child accompanied by her parents, later on a first date, then with their own children, and finally as seniors enjoying a warm day on the river.

MICHIGAN SOLDIERS IN THE CIVIL WAR

Frederick D Williams

Professor Frederick Williams of Michigan State University was one of the three members of the centennial commission's publications committee. It is fortunate for Michigan that he was. Besides directing the commission's publications efforts, Professor Williams authored Michigan Soldiers in the Civil War. His manuscript first appeared in Michigan History Magazine before being published as a book. This fourth edition has been expanded to including a new design, more photographs and an updated reading list.

CIVIL WAR

Step into your own personal CD-ROM library. Click on a book from the bookshelf, and up comes the text. Click on pictures to view photographs that relate to the text. Next, click on the VCR to see the black-and-white, Academy-Award-winning documentary film, "The True Story of the Civil War." The film consists of photos taken by Matthew Brady, Alexander Gardner, Henry Cook, George Cook, Timothy O'Sullivan, and many others and captures the saga of the Civil War. The original "wet plate" photographs were actually made more than one hundred years ago on the field of battle. And you are there, thanks to The Civil War. Matthew Brady was known worldwide by many Presidents, diplomats, socialites, and, for the purposes of this presentation, by the soldiers in the field of battle. Capturing on film the hardship and the moment of the Civil War, he accompanied General Grant through Virginia. He photographed battles from Bull Run to Gettysburg, Fredericksburg, Antietam, Cold Harbor, and the Petersburg campaign. Also included are thousands of questions and answers. W = Windows. FROM BOTH SIDES OF THE DESK

T. Melchior
From Both Sides of The Desk is the memoir of Tom Melchior's school journey, which begins in the first grade and ends on his last day of teaching. The book is filled with stories by the author's students as well as Melchior's anecdotes that explore such questions as: Why should we tell our stories? And do teachers make a difference? The author's stories begin with his spelling and finger painting experiences in elementary school and continue with his adventures in junior high, high school, college, and his 34 years of teaching.

RUMRUNNING AND THE ROARING TWENTIES

Prohibition on the Michigan - Ontario Waterway

Philip P. Mason

Rumrunning and the Roaring provides a fascinating look at the excesses and failures of Prohibition in the United States, and specifically in Michigan. Lively text, hundreds of photographs, and a glossary of prohibition terms bring to life the 1920s, when bootleggers, flappers, and speakeasies dominated American culture.

ATLAS OF GREAT LAKES INDIAN HISTORY

Helen Hornbeck Tanner

The Indian history of the Great Lakes region is so complex that it can be properly clarified only with the visual aid of maps. In a sequence of 33 newly researched maps printed in as many as five colors, graphically displays the movement of Indian communities from 1640 to about 1871, when treaty making between Indian tribes & the United States government began. Atlas of Great Lakes Indian History is an absolute triumph. Its research is awesome. The presentation altogether wondrous and majestic. Moreover, it is so well conceived and written that it is a joy to read.

THE CHIPPEWAS OF LAKE SUPERIOR

Edmund Jefferson Danziger, Jr

A solid blend of history, ethnology and journalism that provides us with a sweeping account of over 300 years of Chippewa history...Unlike many books about Indians, this one does not end with the defeat of the Indians. The author brings the Chippewa's story right up to the present, and in the process he shows that the Chippewas are still an active, vital tribal entity. Danziger points out that all Americans can learn much from the Chippewa's story, (if we listen).

COLEMAN YOUNG AND DETROIT POLITICS

From Social Activist to Power Broker

Wilbur C Rich

Coleman Young (1919-1997), elected Detroit's first black mayor in 1973, was the city's longest-serving chief executive. Contentional and contradictory, he was, nonetheless, a savvy and convincing politician. Wilbur C. Rich delivers the first serious biography of this powerful and fascinating political figure. Rich combines biography with political analysis. Rich challenges conventional wisdom on the limits of mayoral power and examines Young's role in three key policy areas; affirmative action, economic redevelopment, and the city's fiscal crisis.

EDMUND FITZGERALD:

Past & Present

Southport Video

When the Edmund Fitzgerald, a gigantic and thoroughly modern ore carrier, sank in Lake Superior during a fierce storm in November 1975, one of the biggest mysteries in Great Lakes maritime history was born. How had the 729-foot vessel, known for its rugged durability, and piloted by one of the most respected and experienced captains on the lakes, gone down without so much as a call for help? What, exactly happened on Lake Superior that fateful night? Edmund Fitzgerald: Past and Present. Running time approx. 60 Minutes VHS/Color

GHOST SHIPS OF ISLE ROYALE

Southport Video

Lake Superior, the largest of the Great Lakes, has claimed over five hundred vessels in its maritime history. Some of the most intriguing of these shipwrecks are the ones that occurred around the Isle Royale. As witness to history, you will hear the stories of: " the Chester A. Congdon, a 532-foot steamer which at the time of its sinking, was the largest and most expensive loss in Great Lakes maritime history; " the Kamloops, a three-year-old package freighter that mysteriously disappeared in a Lake Superior storm in 1927 and remained undiscovered for half a century; " the Emperor, a huge bulk carrier that split in half and sank in 1947.

Michiganopoly

TO PLAY

Buy campus properties and favorite area businesses as you make your way around the board. Collect credit hours and trade them for diplomas. Academic Probation sends you home...or make the Dean's List and collect a $200 scholarship. Play the traditional version or the one hour version. Fun for any alumnus, present or future student or fan.

3434LFS $24.95

There's nothing like college. Every campus is unique. We visited over 70 campuses across the country and designed a unique game for each.

Along the way on every campus we talked to students and alumni to find out what makes their school special. The results: over 70 great games!

We know all about Harry's Chocolate Shop in West Lafayette, Indiana - and we walked across the Diag in Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Michigan: Its Land And Its People

ANNOUNCING A NEW PROGRAM TO HELP STUDENTS

- * MEET MICHIGAN NEW FRAMEWORK FOR 4TH GRADE SOCIAL STUDIES
- * PASS THE NEW SOCIAL STUDIES MEAP TEST TO BE GIVEN IN 5TH GRADE

The textbook Michigan: Its Land and Its People put the student at the center of the learning process. Students are not treated as “passive” readers, but are thrust into stimulating situations in which they are motivated to learn. All the new 4th grade strands and standards are covered. Through the book’s dynamic activity approach students learn to master the process skills they need in both social studies and language arts. (Now available in both hard and soft cover).

Soft $19.95 1-9 copies, $16.95 10-29 copies, $15.95 30+ copies
Hard $23.95 1-9 copies, $20.95 10-29 copies, $19.95 30+ copies

Making Connections: Michigan and the Wider World serves as a companion workbook. It provides a series of carefully constructed activities that supplement and enrich the material in the basic text. These activities help students “make connections” between their community, their state and the world beyond.

Soft $12.95 1-9 copies, $10.95 10-29 copies, $9.95 30+ copies

Mastering the Social Studies MEAP Test, Grade 5 prepares students to do their best on this demanding proficiency test. Several chapters help students to become “test-wise”. Special sections teach students how to interpret all the basic prompts that will face on the test and how to answer selected response questions. Other chapters prepare students to answer constructed and extended-response questions.

Soft $12.95 1-9 copies, $10.95 10-29 copies, $9.95 30+ copies

MICHIGAN EDUCATORS RAVE ABOUT THIS PROGRAM!

“This is a superb textbook...The activities are exactly what teachers in our district need to prepare students for the new MEAP test in social studies.”

“These are the only books my students have ever used where they work harder than I do. What’s more, they really enjoy the activities.”
